

QUALITY POLICY

StaminaLift strives to supply customers with the highest quality medical devices.

We have focused on the development and improvement of bed and trolley movers to create a system that is easy to use and proven to reduce, if not eliminate, healthcare workplace injuries. We understand the acute care hospital environment and what is important for efficiency and reducing workplace injuries.

This aim is achieved by compliance to regulatory quality standards, by complete and accurate definition of the needs of the customer, a constant search for technical solutions that best meet these needs, and sustained attention to all factors that determine the customer's experience of the organisation and the products it supplies.

We have developed objectives and targets for quality and customer satisfaction and measure our performance against these targets so as to continually improve our products and our quality system.
